I. INTRODUCTION

Through the Auckland Declaration of April 2004 to strengthen regional cooperation and integration, and in response to the many challenges facing Pacific islands countries, Forum Leaders have adopted the following Vision:

Leaders believe the Pacific region can, should and will be a region of peace, harmony, security and economic prosperity, so that all of its people can lead free and worthwhile lives. We treasure the diversity of the Pacific and seek a future in which its cultures, traditions and religious beliefs are valued, honoured and developed. We seek a Pacific region that is respected for the quality of its governance, the sustainable management of its resources, the full observance of democratic values and for its defence and promotion of human rights. We seek partnerships with our neighbours and beyond to develop our knowledge, to improve our communications and to ensure a sustainable economic existence for all.

2. Leaders agreed to give effect to their Vision through a Pacific Plan to:
  - i. promote economic growth, sustainable development, good governance and security;
  - ii. strengthen regional cooperation and integration in areas where the region could gain the most through sharing resources of governance, alignment of policies and delivery of practical benefits;
  - iii. strengthen support for current programmes, develop new initiatives and advocate for the needs of the Small Island States, particularly given their limited capacity and fragile and vulnerable environment, including to climate change;
  - iv. promote and protect cultural identity, regional inclusiveness, sub-regional representation, human rights, gender, youth and civil society;
  - v. reform the Forum and the regional institutional mechanism;
  - vi. clarify Members' own understanding and appreciation of regionalism with a clear perception of the benefits and costs; and
  - vii. build strong partnerships between Member countries, Pacific territories, regional and international organisations and non-state organisations.
3. With these decisions in mind, the Pacific Plan identifies initiatives within an implementation framework that extends to ten years. Some of this work is already underway. The Plan provides a framework for effective and enhanced engagement between Forum countries and with their non-state actors and development partners. It does not limit the sovereign right of Forum Member countries to determine their own national goals and priorities. It may also guide but does not restrict bilateral development programmes and activities.

II. GOAL AND OBJECTIVES

4. Based on the Leaders' Vision and other decisions relating to its implementation, the Goal of the Pacific Plan is to: Enhance and stimulate economic growth, sustainable development, good governance and security for Pacific countries through regionalism. To meet this goal, the Pacific Plan's strategic objectives are:

Economic Growth<sup>1</sup>

1. Increased sustainable trade (including services), and investment
2. Improved efficiency and effectiveness of infrastructure development and associated service delivery
3. Increased private sector participation in, and contribution to, development

Sustainable Development<sup>2</sup>

4. Reduced poverty
5. Improved natural resource and environmental management
6. Improved health
7. Improved education and training
8. Improved gender equality
9. Enhanced involvement of youth
10. Increased levels of participation and achievement in sports
11. Recognised and protected cultural values, identities and traditional knowledge

Good Governance<sup>3</sup>

12. Improved transparency, accountability, equity and efficiency in the management and use of resources in the Pacific

Security<sup>4</sup>

13. Improved political and social conditions for stability and safety
5. The priority outcomes from these goals and objectives are outlined in the Kalibobo Roadmap at Attachment C.

III. REGIONALISM

6. The Pacific Plan is based on the concept of regionalism: that is, countries working together for their joint and individual benefit. Regionalism under the Pacific Plan does not imply any limitation on national sovereignty. It is not intended to replace any national programmes, only to support and complement them. A regional approach should be taken only if it adds value to national efforts.
7. The Plan depends on support for regional approaches by Forum Member countries, civil society and private sector organisations, development partners and other stakeholders. That support can only come from an informed constituency. There needs to be a high level of awareness of the benefits<sup>5</sup> and costs of regionalism, and the different forms it can take.

<sup>2</sup>Defined as the integration and mutual reinforcement between the three pillars of economic development, social development, and environment conservation (where conservation is defined as wise use, including protection, in some circumstances). Essential requirements for sustainable development include active stakeholder participation, poverty eradication, changing unsustainable patterns of production and consumption and managing and conserving the natural resource base for economic and social development, while maintaining the underlying ecological processes.

<sup>3</sup>Defined as the transparent, accountable and equitable management of all resources. Good governance is a prerequisite for sustainable development and economic growth.

<sup>4</sup>Defined as the stable and safe social (or human) and political conditions necessary for, and reflective of, good governance and sustainable development for the achievement of economic growth.

<sup>5</sup>An attempt has been made to estimate the possible benefits or gains from some of the initiatives in the Plan. The results, showing good potential, are summarised in Background Paper No 5.

III. REGIONALISM

Benefits and costs of regionalism

8. Regionalism can reduce the costs of providing a service if the number of people benefiting from the service is increased. These 'economies of scale' can occur in both the public and private sectors. On the other hand, regionalism can also increase costs: for instance, by requiring the movement of goods, services and people over long distances. These increased costs, or 'diseconomies of isolation', are particularly relevant in a vast area such as the Pacific.
9. When countries work regionally to achieve a goal – for instance, better health surveillance – economies of scale must be balanced against diseconomies of isolation. The best approach may in some instances be sub-regional or a grouping of a few countries to deliver a service.

Types of regionalism

10. The wish by Forum Leaders to strengthen regional cooperation and integration in the Pacific involves considering several quite different concepts of regionalism:

Regional Cooperation: Setting up dialogues or processes between governments. Regional cooperation means services (eg. health, statistics, audit, etc) are provided nationally, but often with increased coordination of policies between countries. This is either based on an agreed strategy – such as the Forum Principles on Regional Transport Services – or arranged through a coordinating body, such as the Oceania Customs Organisation.

Regional Provision of Public Goods/Services: Pooling national services (eg. customs, health, education, sport, etc) at the regional level. Governments are freed from daily management of some services and can concentrate on service delivery in other areas and on policy development. For example, by providing tertiary education through the University of the South Pacific (USP), Pacific Island governments can focus more on ensuring their individual primary and secondary education systems cater to their unique national needs.

Regional Integration: Lowering market barriers between countries. These barriers may be physical (eg. borders) or technical (eg. quarantine measures, import taxes, passport requirements, etc). Regional integration can improve access for Pacific businesses to consumers, increasing economies of scale and, therefore, reducing prices and making more goods available.

11. The path almost any regional initiative takes usually begins with regional cooperation. Whether the best approach may then be a move towards regional integration, or regional provision of services, or both – depends on an assessment of obstacles to development and consideration of benefits and costs. In the Pacific, regional approaches to overcoming capacity limitations in service delivery at a national level, and increasing economic opportunities through market integration are expected to provide the highest gains.

Tests for regional approaches

12. There are three ways of testing whether regionalism can add value to an initiative:

Market Test: Is the market providing a service well? If so, involvement by national governments and/or regional bodies should be minimal.

Subsidiarity Test: Can national or local governments provide the service well? If so, involvement by regional bodies should be minimal. For example, primary and secondary education is generally managed by local and national governments, but for small Pacific Island states a regional university such as USP is an ideal initiative.

Sovereignty Test: Does the proposed regional initiative maintain the degree of effective sovereignty held by national governments? Regional initiatives should shift only the management of services to regional bodies, not policy-making as well. Countries, not regional bodies, should decide priorities.

IV. REGIONAL PRIORITIES

13. The Pacific Plan identifies a wide range of regional initiatives for the first three years (2006-2008) based on alignment and consistency with: (a) the Leaders' Vision and related decisions and the Strategic Objectives; (b) priorities identified by Members and other stakeholders in the course of Pacific Plan consultation; and (c) the regional approach outlined above. These initiatives are detailed at Attachment A according to the Strategic Objective they are expected to meet and their degree of readiness for decision and action. Those that are ready for Immediate Implementation are mostly grounded in current activities or mandates - the so-called 'low-hanging fruits'. Those requiring Agreement in Principle are priorities requiring the development and approval of a full proposal. Remaining priorities require Further Analysis to establish whether a regional approach is appropriate. In addition to the following initiatives, there are other agreed strategic policies and initiatives already in place which require strengthening (see Background Paper 2B). While these initiatives are not specifically identified in the Pacific Plan list of regional priorities, they are complementary to them.

- Establishment of a regional ombudsman and human rights mechanisms to support implementation of Forum Principles of Good Leadership and Accountability, etc
- Establishment of a regional audit service to support integrity and oversight

The Small Island States

14. The special needs of Small Island States (SIS) will be supported through the Pacific Plan by the establishment of a unit in the Forum Secretariat, tasked with ensuring that the SIS perspective is represented; that they fully benefit from the Plan as it develops; and that practical support and advice is provided to SIS on the implementation of their commitments under the Plan. This will include the provision of in-country capacity to allow SIS to further realise the benefits of current and future regional assistance in areas such as employment, aviation, shipping, tourism (including product development), and investigation of the feasibility of establishing an alternative soft loan financing facility.

Other identified regional initiatives

15. A range of other initiatives emerged from the consultation process. Some are new and some are grounded in ongoing activity. While more time is required for information gathering, analysis and consultation, these provide a potentially rich resource on which to draw for on-going development of the Pacific Plan into the future as the Plan evolves. These other identified regional initiatives are detailed in Background Paper 2.

The future of regional integration

16. The Leaders' long-term goal is to move progressively towards a comprehensive framework agreement amongst all Forum members that includes trade (and services) and economic cooperation. This goal is reflected in the Forum Economic Ministers' identification of stronger regional economic integration, starting with trade, as a key element for economic growth and building a relationship with the rest of the world. In developing a policy environment supportive of regional economic integration, Ministers recognised, among other things, the need for further examination of Pacific labour market issues, including the issue of labour mobility through the region and beyond. Forum leaders have therefore agreed to continue to consider the issue of labour mobility in the context of Member countries' immigration policies. The Leaders' goal of regional integration also finds expression in the decision of Forum Trade Ministers to commission a joint study to investigate the potential impacts of a move towards a comprehensive framework for trade and economic cooperation between Australia, New Zealand and Forum Island Countries. As successful regionalism requires larger markets to stimulate growth, partnership with Australia and New Zealand is crucial for Pacific regionalism to be viable.

V. IMPLEMENTATION STRATEGIES

17. The successful implementation of the Pacific Plan is dependent on the support and commitment of Member countries, development partners and other stake-holders. As stronger regional cooperation and integration is a means to support national development objectives, the development and implementation of national policies and strategies on regionalism are a further important Strategic Objective of the Pacific Plan. These strategies will include clear statements of national interests as they relate to regionalism and the establishment of appropriate mechanisms and processes for the use of regional approaches at the country level.
18. At the regional level, implementation of Pacific Plan will, in the first instance, be the responsibility of the Pacific Islands Forum Secretariat. This is consistent with the 2004 decision by Leaders that the primary functions of the Secretariat are to provide policy advice, coordination and assistance in implementing their decisions<sup>6</sup>.
19. Political oversight and guidance to the Secretariat will be provided, during the year, by a Pacific Plan Action Committee (PPAC), chaired by the Forum Chair and comprising representatives of all Pacific Island Forum Countries. The Forum Chair (as Chair of the PPAC), will report to Leaders on the implementation of the Plan on a quarterly basis. The Secretariat will provide written quarterly reports to the Chair for consideration and dissemination. A small implementation unit, reporting directly to the Deputy Secretary General, will be established in the Secretariat to support the PPAC and progress the Plan.
20. Overall implementation of Pacific Plan initiatives will be reviewed annually by Leaders who will receive a report, prepared in consultation with members of the PPAC, from the Chair and the Secretary General prior to the Leaders' meeting. The report to Leaders will include recommendations on future directions for the Plan.
21. Given the central role regional organisations will play in the implementation of the Pacific Plan, a regional institutional framework that is appropriate to the development of the Pacific Plan will be established. A proposal will be provided to the 2006 Forum.
22. A key implementation strategy and Strategic Objective of the Pacific Plan is the building of strong partnerships with national and regional stakeholders. Specific initiatives are outlined in Attachment A to strengthen relationships with Pacific territories, NSAs, civil society and development partners. These include: establishing regional volunteer schemes and other forms of regional exchanges for capacity building; and an annual outcomes-oriented process with non-state representatives from the business sector, academia, media and civil society organisations to provide feedback to the Leaders and a platform for wider debate on Pacific regionalism and the longer term direction of the Pacific Plan.

<sup>6</sup>The Secretariat has been restructured to more effectively undertake these responsibilities, including through the appointment of a second Deputy Secretary General jointly responsible for management of the Forum's goals of economic growth, sustainable development, good governance and security.

23. A Pacific Plan Fund will be established, with the assistance of development partners and international bodies, to manage the implementation of initiatives through the PPAC.

VI. MONITORING AND EVALUATION

24. The progress of the Pacific Plan will be measured by monitoring and evaluation of initiatives in meeting the Plan's Strategic Objectives (Monitoring and Evaluation Framework at Attachment B). Success indicators have been developed to suit the Pacific regional context, as well as to allow for the measurement of nationally and globally agreed targets, such as the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs). The Secretary General may convene a reference group, including non-state representatives, to provide independent feedback and advice on progress. Additionally, an independent comprehensive review of progress will be conducted every three years.

25. While the Pacific Plan has a general timeframe of ten years, it ensures flexibility so that the Vision of the Leaders and the goal of regional integration extend far into the future. It provides a mechanism as a 'springboard' for discussing and shaping the region's longer-term future. The Pacific Plan is a living document that will continue to draw inspiration from Leaders, and from the people whom they serve, now and in the years to come.

KALIBOBO ROADMAP ON THE PACIFIC PLAN

Pacific Islands Forum Leaders today launched a new era for Pacific partnership by adopting a Pacific Plan to strengthen and deepen regional cooperation and integration. The Plan is a living document which, step by step, aims to give practical effect to the Leaders' vision of a region that is "respected for the quality of its governance, the sustainable management of its resources, the full observance of democratic values, and for its defence and promotion of human rights".

The "Kalibobo Roadmap" reinforces the objectives of the Plan and is intended to guide the PIF member countries during the implementation phase in the first three (3) years. In this regard, the Leaders will be looking to the Plan to help achieve major outcomes for the people of the region.

The Pacific Plan is built on four pillars that are geared towards enhancing:

- Economic Growth
- Sustainable Development
- Good Governance
- Security for the Pacific through regionalism

Economic Growth: The key objective is improved income earnings and livelihoods through better access to goods, services, employment and other development opportunities. The Plan includes initiatives for better access to markets and goods, trade in services including labour, trade facilitation, enhanced transportation and communication, private sector development and in the key resource sectors of fisheries and tourism.

Sustainable Development: The key objective is enhanced capacity and resilience of Pacific people and societies. The Plan includes initiatives for improving not only educational standards but also practical (technical and vocational) skills that are relevant to job markets, in areas such as seafaring, hospitality/training, health care, and peacekeeping and policing. There are also initiatives to enhance the health of Pacific people, and support the fight against HIV/AIDS and STI, non-communicable diseases and other health threats.

Good Governance: The key objective is to support a safe, enabling, inclusive and sustainable environment for economic growth and personal development and human rights. It is for this reason that the Plan promotes the development and implementation of national sustainable development strategies; regional support for good governance, particularly in areas such as leadership, human rights, ombudsman functions, audit, transparent administration systems, and participatory decision-making mechanisms that includes the non-government groups, women and youth. The Plan will also support the maintenance of strong Pacific cultural identities and the protection of traditional knowledge and intellectual property rights.

Security: The key objective is to ensure safety and security of maritime and aviation and borders. The Plan will promote technical cooperation, regional police training, and other measures relating to drug and weapons control, quarantine, bio-security and safety. Another important dimension of the security and sustainable development environment relates to prevention, mitigation and adaptation with regard to natural disasters, pollution (through waste management) and climate variability and change and sea level rise.

Twenty-four (24) initiatives have been identified for immediate implementation over the next three years:

Economic Growth

- Expansion of market for trade in goods under the South Pacific Regional Trade and Economic Cooperation Agreement (SPARTECA), the Pacific Island Countries Trade Agreement (PICTA), the Pacific Agreement on Closer Economic Relations (PACER), and through trade arrangements with non-Forum members.
- Integration of trade in services, including temporary movement of labour, into the Pacific Island Countries Trade Agreement (PICTA) and the Economic Partnerships Agreement (EPA).
- Timely and effective implementation of the Regional Trade Facilitation Programme (RTFP).
- Maximise sustainable returns from fisheries by development of an eco-based fishery management planning framework; encouragement of effective fisheries development, including value-adding activities; and collaboration to ensure legislation and access frameworks are harmonised.
- Implementation of the Forum Principles on Regional Transport Services (FPRTS) including development of the Pacific Aviation Safety Office (PASO).
- Investigation of the potential impacts under the Pacific Agreement on Closer Economic Relations (PACER) of a move towards a comprehensive framework for trade (including services) and economic cooperation between Australia, New Zealand and the Forum Island Countries.
- Support of private sector mechanisms including through the Regional Private Sector Organisation (RPSO).

Sustainable Development

- Development and implementation of National Sustainable Development Strategies (NSDS), using appropriate cross-cutting and Pacific relevant indicators.
- Development and implementation of national and regional conservation and management measures for the sustainable utilisation of fisheries resources.
- Development and implementation of policies and plans for waste management.
- Implementation of the Pacific Islands Energy Policy and associated Strategic Action Plan to provide available, reliable, affordable, and environmentally sound energy for the sustainable development of all Pacific island communities.
- Harmonisation of approaches in the health sector under the Samoa Commitment, including: implementing the HIV/AIDS and STI Strategy; a stronger focus on non-communicable diseases; and agreement on health worker recruitment.
- Investigate the potential for expanding regional technical vocational education training (TVET) programmes to take advantage of opportunities in health care, seafaring, hospitality/tourism, peacekeeping and for enhancing and standardising regional training programmes.
- Enhancement of advocacy for and coordination of youth programmes and monitoring of the status of youth.
- Enhancement of regional sporting networks to support the developmental role of sport.

Good Governance

- Regional support to consolidate commitments to key institutions such as Audit and Ombudsman Offices, Customs, Leadership Codes, Anti-Corruption Institutions and Departments of Attorneys General; including through judicial training and education.
- Regional support to the Forum Principles of Good Leadership and Accountability.
- Enhancement of governance mechanisms, including in resource management; and in the harmonisation of traditional and modern values and structures.
- Upgrade and extension of country and regional statistical information systems and databases across all sectors.
- Where appropriate, ratification and implementation of international and regional human rights conventions, covenants and agreements and support for meeting reporting and other requirements.

Security

- Development and implementation of strategies and associated legislation for maritime and aviation security and surveillance.
- Implementation of the Pacific Islands Regional Security Technical Cooperation Strategy in border security, including for trans-national crime, bio-security, and mentoring for national financial intelligence units.
- Strengthening of law enforcement training, (e.g. regional policing initiative), coordination and attachments.
- Development and implementation of policies and plans for the mitigation and management of natural disasters.

There are also a range of other initiatives under the Pacific Plan which have been agreed to in principle or have been listed for future analysis before they are implemented.

Future Outlook and Implementation

The Forum is expected to move progressively towards a comprehensive framework agreement amongst all the Forum members that includes trade (and services) and economic cooperation. Leaders are particularly pleased that the Forum's Economic and Trade Ministers have taken the initiative to progress work on this goal of theirs.

The successful implementation of the Pacific Plan is dependent on the support and commitment of member countries, regional organisations, development partners and a range of stakeholders. As stronger regional cooperation and integration is a means to support national development objectives, the development and implementation of national policies and strategies on regionalism are an important Strategic Objective of the Pacific Plan. These strategies will need to include clear statements of national interests as they relate to regionalism and the establishment of appropriate mechanisms and processes for the use of regional approaches at the country level.

At the regional level, implementation of the Plan in the first instance will be the responsibility of the PIF Secretariat. This is consistent with the 2004 decision by Leaders that the primary functions of the Secretariat are to provide policy advice, coordination and assistance in implementing their decisions.

KALIBOBO ROADMAP ON THE PACIFIC PLAN

Political oversight and guidance to the Secretariat will be provided, during the year by a Pacific Plan Action Committee (PPAC), chaired by the Forum Chair and comprising representatives of all PIF Countries. The Forum Chair (as chair of the PPAC) will report to Leaders on the implementation of the Plan on a quarterly basis.

The Secretariat will provide written quarterly reports to the Chair for consideration and dissemination to PIF member countries.

A small implementation unit, reporting directly to the Deputy Secretary General, will be maintained in the Secretariat to support the PPAC and progress the plan. A similar unit will be established to ensure that the Smaller Island States derive the fullest possible benefit from the Plan.

Overall implementation of Pacific Plan initiatives will be reviewed annually by Leaders who will receive a report, prepared in consultation with members of the PPAC, from the Chair and Secretary General prior to the Leaders' meeting. These reports will include recommendations on future directions for the Plan.

Given the central role of regional organisations, a regional institutional framework that is appropriate to the development of the Pacific Plan will be established. A progress report on this will be provided to the 2006 Forum. Relationships with Pacific territories, NSAs, civil society and development partners will be strengthened, and an annual outcomes-oriented process with non-state-representatives from the business sector, academia, media and civil society organisations will be established, to provide a platform for wider debate and feedback to the Leaders through the Secretary General.

It is proposed that a Pacific Fund be established to manage the Pacific Plan implementation through the PPAC. Leaders acknowledge with appreciation the assistance or contributions of development partners and international bodies towards the development and initial implementation of the Plan and urge other development partners to also contribute to the Pacific Fund and the implementation of the Plan. The Fund would be utilised in the areas of capacity building in workshops, symposiums and seminars and for Forum Secretariat Officials to make in country assessments of progress on implementation and advise countries on the appropriate course of action when implementing the Plan.

While the Pacific Plan has a general timeframe of ten years, it provides a mechanism for discussing and shaping the region's longer-term future. It is a living document that will continue to draw inspiration from Leaders and from the people they serve, now and in the years to come.
